Board President's Message

Our Work Doesn't Stop

Gary Woods, Board President

2020. The year of change, adaptability, and opportunity.

It was a roller coaster of a year. Little did we realize that a virus that was mentioned in late 2019, early 2020, would completely shut down “non-essential” businesses and make our livelihoods come to an almost screeching halt. On March 17, 2020, an Executive Order was issued that non-essential businesses were to close due to the COVID-19 pandemic. In response, Jackson Electric quickly enacted their Pandemic Plan, a document we thought we would never have to dust off.

The following day, March 18, Jackson Electric's lobby closed to walk-in traffic. Even though our lobby was closed, our work didn't stop. Our employees recognized that as more members were forced to stay home, their need for reliable power would be greater than ever. We adapted to new protocols to limit exposure between employees to ensure there would always be someone available to assist our members with their day-to-day needs and outage restoration.

Management alternated working remotely, the line crew worked four, 10-hour days with split crews, office employees maintained social distancing, and extra hygiene protocols were put in place. Alternative online and phone services were quickly developed for our members.

The hardships our members faced during the pandemic did not go unnoticed by Jackson Electric. Some of our members were out of work or had their work hours reduced, the same for the businesses in our service territory. They were either shut down or open for limited hours. In response, we stopped collections on past-due electric payments, waived late fees, worked with members on payment arrangements, and gave back nearly $71,000 to members who had membership deposits on our books. We also quickly put together a zero to one percent economic development loan package to assist area small businesses.

Financial struggles hit Jackson Electric, as well. We still had a wholesale power bill and other bills to pay each month, and the lack of revenue from kilowatt-hour sales made it difficult. Our system encompasses nearly 49% of commercial load. Those businesses were shut down and the slight tick in residential sales did not make up for that loss in revenue. To help mitigate this financial disaster, each department suspended all expense projects until further notice.

During this unprecedented time, we supported our community and its needs. In February, we opened our warehouse facility to host the county's COVID-19 vaccination drive-through events. Our employees invested time with community partners and volunteers every Thursday for 10 weeks to provide a safe, comfortable, and convenient location for the public to receive vaccinations.

Here we are, a year later. Jackson Electric is still doing what we've always done, providing safe, reliable power for all generations. We used last year's ride as an opportunity to review our services and procedures, to find ways to improve our member service, and to revise our pandemic plan.

With that being said, we hope you're able to attend the virtual annual meeting. While we became somewhat accustomed to online meetings, we're hoping that our next annual meeting will be in-person to regain that personal connection with our membership.

Some say, “When handed lemons, you make lemonade.” I'm not sure we made lemonade, but we did our best to continue our commitment to our membership in a year of challenges. That dedication and commitment will continue as we use what we learned during the pandemic to keep moving in a progressive direction to better serve our members.
